you, Mer - ry Christ - mas to you from my heart.

2. For Christ was man's true light,
A candle burning brightly in the night,
But in the dark, oh, how few really saw.
Yet to all who receive,
To every little one who will believe,
He gave the right to be children of God.
3. The word became a man,
And lived with us so we would understand,
The gracious glory of God's own son.
And every bell that rings,
Every carol that I hear the children sing,
Reminds me now of a joy still to come.
